Note regarding the change of subscription

Changing to a cheaper subscription

1. General

Customers who sign a NATEL® contract when buying a mobile phone, netbook, tablet PC or laptop normally pay less for their device. The discounted price is calculated in line with the chosen subscription.

If a customer then wishes to change to a cheaper subscription less than 12 months after signing or extending the contract, Swisscom makes a one-off charge of CHF 300.– for NATEL® contracts or CHF 100.– for data contracts. There is no extra charge for changing subscriptions after 12 months.

There is also no extra charge for changing to a more expensive subscription.

2. Additional provision for NATEL® (business) infinity plus subscriptions

NATEL® (business) infinity plus subscriptions come with an annual credit for use abroad. It varies in amount depending on the type of NATEL® (business) infinity plus subscription. In addition to the provision in subparagraph 1, in the case of NATEL® (business) infinity plus subscriptions, holders can only change their subscription – regardless of whether up or down – after a period of six months from the last subscription change. If a NATEL® (business) infinity plus subscriber wishes to change to a lower priced subscription during this minimum six-month term, they will be charged CHF 300 (unless the subscriber already pays CHF 300 based on subparagraph 1). Changing to a higher-grade NATEL® (business) infinity plus subscription is always possible.
