

Trainee programme

In the space of 12 months, you will learn about a wide variety of areas of the business in three different projects that can be carried out anywhere within the group. After 12 months, you will therefore have developed a huge network that will be very useful for your future with Swisscom. You will select the projects yourself and put all your energy into them.

Overall programme

Together with the three practical projects, you will develop your skills off-the-job in various workshops and carry out a real-life case study with your fellow trainees. A mentor will be there to help you throughout the programme, which starts in October.

Requirements

In addition to an above-average Master's degree obtained in the last 12 months, you have excellent communication skills, an outstanding ability to learn and a high level of motivation. We are looking for out-of-the-box thinkers with powers of self-assertion and persuasion, who want to achieve great things with Swisscom.

Applications

Applications can be submitted from the end of January.
