

Natel infinity subscriptions now with Swisscom TV Air

All Natel infinity customers can now use the full mobile TV 2.0 offering for smartphones and tablets for one year. Swisscom TV Air includes 30 hours of replay and 30 hours of recording capacity. The option is included in the existing subscription fee for the first 12 months, and thereafter costs CHF 5 per month for continued use.

“As our TV customers are already aware, with Swisscom TV Air and the replay and record function, you can watch your favourite programmes anywhere and at any time, across multiple devices. Now our Natel infinity customers can experience this as well, for a whole year and free of charge,” says Marc Werner, Head of Swisscom Residential Customers. From today, all Natel infinity and infinity plus customers can use Swisscom TV Air with extended features free of charge for a year. The TV 2.0 app gives customers the choice of over 190 TV channels and includes 30 hours of replay. The record button also lets you record 30 hours of TV programmes to watch later.

Customers will be informed by text message once the free 12-month period has expired. If you wish to continue enjoying the TV Air option after that, the cost is CHF 5 per month. The free Swisscom TV 2.0 app can be downloaded from Google Play, Apple or the Windows Phone Store. Simply log in with your mobile phone number.

There is also good news for Windows Phone users: the Swisscom TV 2.0 app is now available to download from the Windows Phone Store. This means that Windows Phone customers can now also enjoy the replay and record function, as well as an improved TV guide.

By the way: the Swisscom TV 2.0 app – with clear TV guide and live TV on over 70 channels – is also available free of charge for non-Swisscom customers.
